COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

All persons who have recently become 21 years of age or have moved into town since the last election and have never registered to vote may do so by calling at the Town Office, and filling out a registration card. It is necessary to fill out the registration card prior to voting in the State Election on Sept. 8th.

Warrants are being posted this week for the election. Voting in Bethel will take place at the Community Room.

As previously announced a special town meeting will be held on Saturday, Sept. 6, at 1:00 p. m. to elect a selectman and assessor. All persons to vote on the proposed zoning ordinance, and two or three roads that have long since passed their usefulness as public ways are to be considered for discontinuance. There will also be an article to see if these same roads will be accepted as a private way, subject to gates and bars, to be voted on if they are discontinued as public ways.

Surplus food is being distributed this week to eligible persons. The following items are available: corn meal, dry milk, rice and flour.

With reference to Dutch Elm Disease that was mentioned last week, a report has been received from the Maine Forest Service regarding the tree at Bethel Inn. The report states that there is no Dutch Elm Disease present. A few days ago two men from the Maine Forest Service were in town checking elm trees and taking samples of wood to be tested. No report has been received as yet on the results of their trip.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

KITTREDGE - FEENER

Miss Judi Ann Feener, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Feener of Andover and Walter Kittredge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kittredge of Bethel were united in marriage Aug. 13 in an attractive outdoor wedding at the home of the bride's parents under an arbor of evergreen and white carnations. Rev. Grant Kiker conducted the double ring service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of blue sateen with colonial bouquet, on her head she wore a white daisy net.

Miss Lorraine Gilbert of Turner, a class mate at Farmington State Teachers College, was maid of honor. She wore a street length dress of pink with white accessories.

Michael Gwoll of West Bethel was the best man.

Katy Feener and Kathy Kittredge, little sisters of the bride and groom were usherettes.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Feener wore a blue print with white accessories. Mrs. Kittredge wore grey with white accessories. Both wore red and white carnation corsages.

The reception was held at 7 p. m. at the home of the bride. Miss Beverly Akers circulated the guest book. Miss Patricia Kittredge, sister of the groom, had charge of the gift display. The wedding cake was made by Louise Bean and of the bride. They left on an undisclosed wedding trip.

Mrs. Kittredge graduated from Andover high school and attended Farmington State Teachers College. She will teach at Ruxley in the fall.

Mr. Kittredge graduated from Gould Academy and is now serving in the U. S. Navy. On his return he will go to Norman, Okla. for five weeks and then to Jacksonville, Fla. for advanced schooling in electronics.

An executive board meeting of the Women's Fellowship will be held Sept. 6 at 8:30 at the home of Mrs. Gustaf Anderson. All officers, committee chairmen and executive committee members are requested to attend. The third quarterly meeting will be held in the church dining room Sept. 10 preceded by a pot luck supper at 6:30 with coffee 8 and 9 o'clock as hostesses. Following the business meeting there will be a guest speaker.

A word of advice to teenagers, which might be needed by other ages, is being the round of reprints and quotes. The plain words are good food for thought at least, whether or not we agree with the entire lesson.

In the Reader's Digest it is quoted from the Mera Mera, Kanabec County Times. The Industrial News Review found it in the Sandy Creek, N. Y. News. The Christian Science Monitor quotes the Billings, Mont., Yellowstone News, who reprinted from the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. So we quote.

Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teenagers:

What can we do? Where can we go? I can make some suggestions. Go home!

BETTER VISION TESTS URGED FOR BACK-TO-SCHOOLERS

More thorough testing of the vision of New England school children was advocated by the American Association of Optometrists, Inc. President of the New England Council of Optometrists in a plea to parents to have their children's vision checked at the beginning of the school year.

Vision is one of the most seriously neglected phases of child development. Children whose vision is not properly checked and developed properly tend to have difficulty in learning to read properly to turn in a paper or to do school work, and frequently an important factor in juvenile delinquency. If a child cannot clearly see, he will not be able to do his school work properly, and this will lead to a habit of drawing attention to himself.

When tests used to many children to detect such lack of vision are not used, the children are often misled. The tests used to detect such lack of vision are often misleading. The tests used to detect such lack of vision are often misleading.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

AN AUTO TRIP

The countryman feels he cannot let the season become history without offering advice to his peers on a subject which is becoming increasingly important. According to a news item, some 50 million Americans will take auto trips this year. Some will take short trips; some will take touring trips of a fortnight or more. The countryman who has experienced both, wishes to help his fellow man.

The first advice is for males who are impatient at the amount of luggage the women folks deem necessary. There is no point in arguing. A woman will take more clothes than she needs and a man cannot change this feminine determination. Furthermore, if you value peace of mind, simply take along everything you have that is not fastened down. In general, one should leave the freezer, refrigerator, stove and power lawn mower at home, but otherwise, the sensible attitude is to accept the fact that all other possessions should go in case you need them.

With that basic philosophy, the next point is for the women to clean out the bedroom closets and wash several pairs of curtains so the house will look fresh when they return. They should shorten or lengthen several dresses and clean out the kitchen cupboard. This sort of activity puts a woman in the right frame to enjoy a trip.

A man, to assert his masculine objectivity, should scold a reasonable amount at these goings-on. Then, inspired by the fervor of his household, he should clean out the cellar, trim the hedge, and in particular clear out and reorganize the car's trunk and glove compartments. An auto trip

TODAY'S meditation

Thursday, August 28
Read John 6:24-28.
I came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me. (John 6:38.)

Jesus speaks of two wills, separate and distinct: His own will and His Father's will. Just as Jesus had a will of His own, so have we. One of God's greatest gifts to us is free will. We can exercise our will for or against God. We are free to do His will or our own.

Jesus knew that the great purpose of His life was to do the will of His Father. We also fulfill the purpose of our lives when our wills work in harmony with God's will. I have a friend who one day was offered an important contract. He turned it down, saying, "It might turn me into an atmosphere where I may lose my soul. And what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?" He could have gone ahead, doing his own will, but he refused. He knew that his peace was determined by doing what he believed to be God's will, rather than his own. When God's will and our own are one, our thoughts are heaven-like. So are our actions.

PRAYER: Eternal Father, Thou hast given me the choice either of refusing to go Thy way, or of doing Thy will. Thou art wiser than I. Come and dwell in my heart and mind. Fulfill Thy high purposes in me; work in and through me. For the Saviour's sake. Amen.

Thought For The Day

COME AND BRING THE FAMILY TO MAINE'S FINEST COUNTRY FAIR

From my front porch

By CARL HIRSH

To see grass growing in cracks of sidewalks probably pains many people. But I walked so many miles on so many hard, unyielding pavements of so many great cities. A sidewalk with a crack of grass in it is a wonderful thing. It is nature's triumph.

Once, in New York, my window in a skyscraper looked out on a little tree, heavily battling for existence in the story, gasconade heart of Manhattan. It withered and died in a year. So now, in the deeply shaded streets of my hometown, I like it somewhere when a determined old elm or maple pushes up the sidewalk with its roots. Nature isn't broken yet. I say to myself, by man's "civilized" control.

A friend sent me this verse:

"Was in some tranquil forest,
light sweet,
"And left to God the rest!"
Then he said, "Have you read the 100th Psalm today?"
I hadn't yet. I say to myself, by man's "civilized" control.

TO THE VOTERS OF OXFORD COUNTY

As deputies serving under Sheriff James Lasater, we wish to make a brief statement.

In our association with "Jim" Lasater for four years, we have found him to be a conscientious and honest servant of the public, a man of fine character and ability, having the duties of his office as his first consideration.

His dealings with the people are always honorable and just. He has always reminded his deputies of the importance and need of effectively cooperating with all other law enforcement organizations, thereby earning their respect.

We know "Jim." When he was first elected four years ago, he promised to observe in the office of Sheriff the same honorable principles that he has practiced in his private life. Certainly, this promise has been faithfully kept.

We want to urge everyone to go to the polls on September 8 and vote for James Lasater, Sheriff of Oxford County. For the good of all fellow citizens and our common goal, standing for good government, we sincerely believe we must continue under "Jim's" administration.

Albert Taylor, Roderick McMillin, Merle Cole, Arthur Mills, Everett Saunders and Kenneth Nowlin, of the 32nd M. P. Battalion Reserve Unit of Bridgton, are at Fort Dix, N. J., for two weeks training.

Barbara Hutchinson, Linda Olson, Linda Lord, Gertrude Waldron, Florence and Christine Stevens, Catherine Cole, Carolyn Roberts Nancy Brown, Linda Lowell, Cynthia Freeman, Grace Haines, Linda Paine and Martha Keniston returned home Saturday after spending two weeks at Camp Wauyaka, Odsfield.

On Thursday, Aug. 21, the Ladies Club of the Congregational Church met at the summer home of Mrs. Lucia Tikander for a work meeting. Eight ladies were present. Many new items were brought to work on. Next meeting will be Sept. 4 at the home of Mrs. Grace Merrill at 1:30 p. m. Those present were: Mrs. Emma Van Den Kerckhoven, Mrs. Lucia Tikander, Mrs. Grace Merrill, Mrs. Ruby Briggs, Mrs. Edith Brown, Mrs. Pearl Tibbets, Mrs. Ada Durall, and Mrs. Marguerite Bartlett.

Mrs. Mary Anne Myers gave five children a happy cutting Friday and Saturday when she took her two brothers, Bill and Mike, age 8 and 4, Sandra and "Chuckie" Smith ages 8 and 5, and Corey Brown, 12, on an overnight camping trip at Wydesboro Farm. They cooked their supper outdoors at the Cabin, then crawled into their sleeping bags and spent the night out under the stars. A peaceful night was reported and the party was on again at 6 a. m. when they all showed up at the Smith home for breakfast. Mrs. Lucia Smith and Alice and Brenda went with them for swimming at The Falls and then a hamburger and hot dog roast at The Farm.

How To Pass Like a Pro

Passing on a Two-Lane Road

Follow the arrow for a safe and easy pass on a conventional highway. Make sure you are well ahead of the other car before you return to your lane.

Passing on an Expressway

Expressway passing is different. You move out of the right lane to pass and then remain in a high-speed lane to avoid slower moving traffic.

You have to pass slow-moving cars and trucks several times in the course of a day's driving. Yet even a seasoned driver has a lot to learn about how to pass. When it's safe to go around that annoying slowpoke ahead and when it isn't, is not as simple as many drivers seem to think. You have to learn to judge the distance and the speed you'll need to get around the car ahead. Passing on a two-lane road is different from passing on an expressway. Each offers special problems.

Passing on a Two-Lane Road

1. Never tail the car you are going to pass. It'll block your view of the highway ahead. Also you need distance to pick up speed to get around him safely.

2. Look ahead for cars coming from the opposite direction. Check in your rearview mirror to see if a car is behind you. Double-check through your left rear window to make sure no car is in your blind spot.

3. Switch on your turn signals to show you are going to change lanes. Blow your horn or at night flick your headlights to let the driver ahead know you are passing.

4. Turn smoothly into the other lane, accelerating rapidly to a speed 10 to 15 miles an hour faster than that of the car you're in the process of passing.

5. Don't move back into the right hand lane until you're well beyond the car you're overtaking. Then move back smoothly. Guard against a tendency to slow down after you've passed.

Passing on an Expressway

Speed limits are higher on expressways, and with a wider range of speeds you will overtake and pass other vehicles more frequently. A driver who isn't accustomed to expressway speeds may have trouble judging his own speed and the speed of the car he is passing, since traffic on expressways usually moves in a steady flow.

For the most part, the technique for passing on expressways is the same as that used on conventional roads. The driver checks traffic coming from behind, signals his intention to change lanes, moves into the middle lane and picks up speed to pass the car ahead. The difference is that the driver does not return to the outside lane used by slow-moving vehicles. If he is driving at medium high speeds, he stays in the middle lane. If he is going to drive at the top legal speed, he moves to the inner lane. He doesn't switch from lane to lane without good reason.

SUNDAY RIVER

Mrs. R. M. Fleet, Corres. —
Ple. Kenneth's News for Port Dix on Aug. 28th for further training.

The road work to the community has been completed for a while. Mrs. Marion Kimball has been having a bad cold.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Sherman Wilkerson and two children are expected to visit his parents, the last of the week.

The summer to the end of the year for our people are having the summer of our people. Mrs. Eleanor Gilman and children, John and Mary Gilman, left Aug. 19th, for Greenville, Pa. Mrs. Gilman's daughter and children have this week for the summer. Mrs. Gilman's daughter, Mrs. Helen Gilman, and daughter, Mrs. Ruth Gilman, are to leave for Greenville soon.

The Vacation Bible School closed with a program Friday, Aug. 22 in the evening with parents and friends present. The attendance was very good and 23 received certificates, while eight received Bibles. And a special gift was given to the school by the older group of children. It was one of their this year's projects. Also Mrs. Fleet and the school were given a Revised Standard Version Bible by a once grand girl and now a friend, George Reynolds, of California. He has also given funds to purchase a picture story Bible book for the group which will be carefully selected to the next future. We closed with many thanks to Mr. Christensen and all others who helped in any way.

BUILDING A BETTER MAINE with JIM OLIVER

"How come you're running for Congress, Jim?"

I'm often asked that question these days. Here's my answer:

"Because the First District wants in Congress from a man who knows his people and cares what happens to them."

It seems to me we've waited long enough for change to improve, and heard our share of excuses why they haven't. I, for one, want to build a Better Maine, and I want to do it now. And I've got the program to accomplish just that:

1. Equal pay for equal work for us Maine people.

2. Clean water, fish ways, and navigation expansion to restore our five major rivers to the public use and common benefit.

3. Low interest, long-term federal loans to help our towns and cities help themselves — without raising local taxes.

4. Increased aid to Maine's small businessmen.

More next week. And remember folks, this time, MAKE SURE YOUR VOTE COUNTS, VOTE FOR JIM OLIVER.
